The gears of China are coming to a halt this week.

You may find the responses from sellers are getting slow or even unresponsive. That's because the whole of China is going into holiday mode. For the first week of May, everyone will stop working and take a well deserved break. For the rest of the world, that including you, will just have to be patient until the giant wakes up. I would have work for the week too, but they aren't going to be responsive so I might as well take a little break. You can still find me through email and live chat (good luck), as well as the "Your Orders" page, but I'll be a little slower in my response. Everything will be normal again come 4th May, so sit back and relax a little. Let the world's 3rd biggest economy have it's well deserved rest.
